Fuel Services Manager

Company: ASCO UK Limited
Location: Aberdeen

Employment Type: Permanent
Closing Date: 14/02/18

ASCO is a key link in the supply of Marine Gas Oil (MGO) to the North Sea offshore market. With over 30 years' experience in this area, we currently handle around one million tonnes of MGO every year. Our strategically located and owned infrastructure means we supply our customer vessels without the requirement to relocate to another quayside. In addition, we manage road loading terminals and a haulage fleet.

The role of Fuel Services Manager will provide both strategic and daily operational support to the Operations Manager, deputising in their absence, and hold responsibility for managing the maintenance programme and safe systems of work for all ASCO fuelling operations in the UK. As a senior member of the team, you will also actively participate in developing cost and operational improvements and future business opportunities.

As our ideal candidate you will possess a proven track record within this field, and be an energised and influential leader who inspires and motivates others to deliver the highest standards of safety, operational performance and service delivery, maintaining a culture of continuous improvement.

You will be committed to providing first class customer service, aligned to the Company's values, behaviours and strategic goals. Where required, in-role training will be provided to enable the successful candidate to become an effective, integral part of our business.

Minimum Competencies (Skills, Knowledge and Behaviours)

- Established experience of Fuel Handling, Road Tanker Haulage, Tank Storage, Marine Bunkering, COMAH Legislation and movement of Dangerous Goods by Road and Sea.
- Practical understanding of ADR, CPC, WTD, Petroleum Drivers Passport and Safe Loading Pass Schemes.
- Experience of Managing Change, Control of Work, Risk Assessment, Inspections and Auditing.
- Excellent communication and customer relationship skills, with the ability to influence and negotiate.
- A professional and pro-active approach to the leadership and management of people.
- Ability to work to short timescales, changing deadlines and liaise with multiple sources to deliver a high-quality product.
- Solutions based with strong planning and organising skills, and an excellent attention to detail.
- Ability to work stand-alone, demonstrating initiative and ownership, while contributing to the wider team.
- Mobile and flexible to attend both office and field sites within UK based locations.
- Ability to lead a pro-active and rigorous HSEQ culture, ensuring participation and compliance.
- Computer literate with well-developed IT skills across the Microsoft suite and the ability to analyse, understand and disseminate technical information.

As you would expect from a highly progressive company, an attractive remuneration package is available to the successful applicant.

To apply, submit a fully updated CV which clearly demonstrates examples of the skills and behaviours required for the above role. Your application should also include your most recent salary, benefits package and notice period.
